Researchers Get to the Root of Hunger in Primary Care by Research Communications

Researchers at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, with investigations conducted by PolicyLab, have integrated food insecurity screenings into a number of new initatives addressing the social risk factors our patients and families face.

Source:

Cornerstone

Visit Link