Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
PolicyLab

Screening for Autism When the Screener Is Imperfect

PolicyLab researcher Kate Wallis, MD, MPH, wrote a guest blog post on her study, which found that the most widely used autism screening tool is less accurate than previously shown, but still a valuable tool for early detection.

Source:

MedPage Today

Visit Link