

Brief Intervention Tied to Lower Repeat Suicide Attempt

Date:

Wednesday, Jun 17, 2020

A PolicyLab study, which found that brief encounters with health care providers reduced the risk of subsequent suicide attempts and improved access to follow-up care, was featured in an article.

Source:

MedPage Today Visit Link