Sarah Wozniak-Kelly (she/her) is a clinical research coordinator at PolicyLab and the Center for Autism Research at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP), where she works alongside Drs. Kate Wallis, Judith Miller, and Amanda Bennett on projects focused on improving care for autistic children and their families. These projects encompass quality improvement initiatives and mixed methods research to enhance ASD screening, referral processes, and overall support for clinicians and families. Additionally, Sarah coordinates the Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (LEND) program, the ECHO Autism program and the Primary Care Autism Champions program at CHOP.

Sarah holds a BA in Psychology from Temple University and is currently pursuing a Master of Public Health at Drexel University. She is also a Certified Clinical Research Professional (CCRP) through the Society of Clinical Research Associates (SOCRA) and a LEND fellow in the 2024-2025 cohort.
