Apply for PolicyLab's Community in Partnerships Research Program

Date:

Monday, July 17, 2023

PolicyLab is looking for the next cohort of applicants for our Community Partnerships in Research Program! Applications are due Sept. 5, 2023, at 5 p.m. ET.

Now in its second year, this program—developed alongside community partners and intended for Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) researchers—seeks to promote health equity in the Greater Philadelphia area by building and deepening community-academic partnerships for research targeting health improvements among children and families.

Two grant mechanisms are available in this program:

- Partnership Development Awards provide seed funding to support activities related to the development of new or emerging community-academic research partnerships.
- Joint Pilot Project Awards are geared towards established community-academic partnerships who seek funds for a well-defined research project that may produce preliminary data or programs for future competitive grant applications.
