

Sarah Revak MD, MSHP

Affiliate Trainee

Sarah Revak, MD, MSHP, is an affiliate trainee at PolicyLab at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) and a developmental and behavioral pediatrics fellow at CHOP.

Dr. Revak is interested in investigating policy- and practice-based interventions to address the financial burdens experienced by families of children with disabilities, to ultimately improve quality of life and health outcomes.

Dr. Revak received her BS in Biology from Haverford College and her MD at the University of Pennsylvania. She completed her pediatrics residency training at CHOP, and then received her Master's in Health Policy Research (MSHP) at the University of Pennsylvania as a fellow in the National Clinician Scholars Program.
