Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
PolicyLab

U.S. Hospitals Miss Followup for Suspected Child Abuse

PolicyLab researcher, Dr. Joanne Wood is interviewed in this National Institutes of Health podcast. Dr. Wood discusses her study, which found many U.S. hospitals miss the opportunity to screen pediatric patients for suspected child abuse when they present to the emergency department.

Source:

National Institutes of Health

Visit Link