Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
PolicyLab

More Youth Using Antipsychotics Concurrent With Other Medications

This article highlights Dr. David Rubin's research findings that found the use of second-generation antipsychotics (SGAs) concurrent with other psychotropic medications in children in the Medicaid program has increased in recent years.

Source:

Psychiatric News

Visit Link